

Julian Corkle is a Filthy Liar

By D. J. Connell

HarperCollins Publishers. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Julian Corkle is a Filthy Liar, D. J. Connell, A rollicking, laugh-out-loud funny-novel set to sizzle in summer 2011. Julian Corkle's got small-screenability. His mother tells him he'll be a star one day. 'Twinkle, twinkle,' she says, giving his hair a ruffle. Not everyone shares Julian's dreams of stardom. Television is too much like hairdressing for his father's tastes. A Tasmanian man wants a son for sporting purposes. 'Boys don't like dolls,' he tells Julian, 'They like Dinky Toys.' Not this boy, thinks Julian, who knows better than to tell the truth. Besides, the family already has a sporting hero, Julian's sister Carmel aka 'The Locomotive'. Julian likes his sister, but knows better than to tangle with her bowling arm. It's the same one she uses for punching. Julian Corkle is a Filthy Liar is the ultimate feel-good novel, a book that will have the reader laughing out loud on the back of a bus as it follows Julian's bumpy journey through adolescence, fibbing his way through school and a series of dead-end jobs, to find his ultimate calling as creator of 'The Hog'. It's as if Crocodile Dundee has crashed Muriel's...

Julian Corkle is a young boy growing up in Tasmania fighting for the spotlight. He's fully supported by his mother who reminds him always to "twinkle!" but discouraged by his surly father who wishes he'd show more interest in sports. This is a joyful, colourful coming of age story set in Tasmania in the 70's. Julian tells dreadful, ill conceived lies, most of them concerning his own invented small screen career, idol I picked this book up purely on the attention grabbing cover and the great title. So many books promise laughs out loud but quite frankly most do not deliver. Julian Corkle is a Filthy Liar took me by surprise and had me laughing in the most idiotic manner. The novel is original and charming, a wonderful discovery. Who is the author of Julian Corkle is a filthy liar? D.J Connel. What is D.J Connells name? Synopsis: Phoebe Lin and Will Kendall meet their first month at prestigious Edwards University. Phoebe is a glamorous girl who doesn't tell anyone she blames herself for her mother's recent death. Will is a misfit scholarship boy who transfers to Edwards from Bible college. Grieving and guilt-ridden, Phoebe is increasingly drawn into a religious group--a secretive extremist cult--founded by a charismatic former student, John Leal. Never let me catch you with a naked boy again or there'll be trouble. He smacked me several more times. I nodded yes with each smack. I promised I would never ever let him catch me again as long as I lived. I managed to keep my promise until I was eight. Mrs. Corkle's favourite expression is "etwinkle, twinkle" something she says when she ruffles Julian's hair. The book takes place in Tasmania, a small island that is part of Australia. Connell, however, comes from New Zealand, Australia's regional rival. In her first book she wanted to create a special place that everyone knew, but embellish it. "I hope the Tasmanians won't run me out of town for the Tasmania I created. I wanted to set my story in what's known as the back of the beyond," says Connell. The book is currently out across Europe in English and will be released in French this year. I know I am not the first woman to comment on this but it is a remarkable situation considering the great leaps forward female writers have made in most other literary genres. Humour remains an old boys' club and the knee-jerk "if a woman writes a funny book it must be chick-lit" attitude is indicative of this club's male-only policy. Why do I find the chick-lit label so offensive? Because it not only condemns a work of humour to the ghetto of the light and frivolous but it is also ridiculously outdated. Who in Playboy Mansion Hell still refers to a woman as a chick? When y Julian Corkle is a young boy growing up in Tasmania fighting for the spotlight.
