PREFACE

This issue is a collection of selected papers presented at the 28th International Summer School "Actual Problems in Mechanics" (APM 2000) held in St.Petersburg, Russia on June 1-10, 2000. The main objective of this meeting was to create a forum for specialists from various branches of mechanics, providing a platform for a scientific cross-fertilization. Papers of this issue focus on mechanics of generalized continua exhibiting non-standard properties, such as granular materials, electromagnetic continua, composite media with inclusions, etc.

Materials physics is the use of physics to describe the physical properties of materials. It is a synthesis of physical sciences such as chemistry, solid mechanics, solid state physics, and materials science. Materials physics is considered a subset of condensed matter physics and applies fundamental condensed matter concepts to complex multiphase media, including materials of technological interest.
