Short Title: The Egyptian, Syrian and Iraq Revolutions: SOme Observations on Their Underlying Causes and Social Character
Notes: He posits that all the revolutions are related to the 19th and 20th C tying up of the Arab peoles into international markets resting on large scale industry and their involvement in the consequences of the industrial and technological revolutions. Related to establishment of dependent states (shaykdhoms, kingdoms etc) the rise of abundant oil money. Traditional industries dies; market selected agriculture took over. Migration of peoples from oil poor to oil rich. From these changes the Ba'ath, Free Officers, etc Arab Nationalista all arose. Iraq revolutions of 1920 and 1958, Syrian 1925-7 and 1963, Palestinian of 1936-9, Algerian 1954-62, guerilla risings of 1965-74 Dhofar, Libyan of 1969, 1961-7 civil wars in N Yemen, 1970 Jordan, 75-6 in Lebanon. Reflect underlying structural discorandances, conflict between ehtnic, religous groups, economic classes that suffered and those that benefitted.
Iraq much of the backing of the COmmunists came from the manual textile industry in Baghdad Babash Shaykh, and from Amarah, intensification of the SHakyhs hold on the land and the big land owners using irigation pums on the Tigris in Kut and Baghdad. Significantly the revolution ma be considered a rural one.
Note the vast increase in state employees and the state beureaucracy
Note the rise in urbanisation he cites in 1980 Iraq's population was as much as 72%
Note the role of the increase in imports in all he Arab countries
All three revolutions initially sought to reduce their countries subordination to the Western economy and the international division of labour.

Short Title: Future Iraq: US Policy in Reshaping the Middle East

Notes: Good description of the UN requirements for the post conflict 'reconstruction' - focussing on governance judicial reform and human rights, followed by the US reconstruction focus - and US contracting bids prior to the invasion - and the then trade secretaury (UK) Patricia Hewitt lobbying for British constructors! Talk about cynicism!

Followed by the 'ideology' of the occupation - i.e. that is that it wil serve the US interest and that therefore will conform to the requirements of GATS and the WTO, thus allowing capital 'unimpeded access' etc - and investment in the public sector wil be deemed illegal - this is the tenet by which I believe Iraq industry was destroyed - until we get Brinkley.

Research Notes: p 82 - before the war plans were made that all soes would be privatised; p95 before the war ICF Consulting Company to train up to 100 Iraqis 'in prearation for structuring the country's state controlled into a Wester, markt driven economy' (note italics the authors).note p 74 for quote about gats etc.

Research Notes: Economic Policy pp195ff; ORHA; Office of economic Policy p197; Peter McPherson; Iraqi Governing Council (IGC);

Basically the chapter Economic Policy puts a very fine gloss over some major failings within the system; including the appointment of key Bush (Republican) appointments, e.g., Foley, Fleischman etc., of whom small mention is made: (note Foley, p197; David Oliver; Office of Management and Budget) Key statement on p197 - 'It does not appear that much thought was given to economic policy before the war.'

Note: this is DoD document. Whole thing does not want to go into the politics and whitewashes major failings - and significantly does not look at total funding available

Short Title: Conflict and Development

Notes:

MacGinty and Williams discuss the 'nation building' concept of post Second World War work in Japan and Germany and how this concept was assumed to be the appropriate paradigm for the 'reconstruction of Iraq in particular.

He cites Fukuyama 2006 In American minds, nation building reflects 'the specifically American experience of constructing a new political order in a land of new settlement without deeply rooted peoples, cultures and traditions. They go to say, quite rightly, this was certainly not the case in Germany, Japan, Afghanistan or Iraq.

Cites Beginner's Guide to Nation Building – Rand Corporation – 'the use of armed force as part of a broader effort to promote political and economic reforms with the objective transforming a society emerging from conflict into one at peace with itself and neighbours.

As the authors note this conflicts with the beliefs of those that nation building must come from within

Suggest that the US has used a benign term to hide its own self interest

Militaristic entrepreneurs – extractive industries etc

Stage of peacebuilding

Spoiler violence – deeply satisfying for those that feel they have not been given adequate recognition`

DDR – Disarmament, demobilisation and Reintegration

As of 18 May 2020, there have been 3,502 coalition deaths in Afghanistan as part of ongoing coalition operations (Operation Enduring Freedom and ISAF) since the invasion in 2001. In this total, the American figure is for deaths "In and Around Afghanistan" which, as defined by the United States Department of Defense, includes some deaths in Pakistan and Uzbekistan and the deaths of 18 CIA operatives. These are recommendation lists which contains Quick Transmigration Cannon Fodder's Record of Counterattacks. You should give them a visit if you're looking for similar novels to read. Alternatively, you can also create your own list. There are multiple 'Arcs' and they were written well with the right pace. Not like other quick transmigration stories that just became a bundle of short stories. Each one is good enough to get their own novels, I think. But not all arcs are created the same, some are better than the other. An Afghan National Army soldier stands during the Eid al-Adha festival near the old fortress of Bala Hissar in Kabul on Aug. 11. Wakil Kohsar/AFP via Getty Images. Tweet. Central to the current war effort and to its failure was corruption. It was central because the Afghan government couldn't defeat the Taliban insurgents, or win the support of its people, as long as it was corrupt from top to bottom. The United States failed because the billions of dollars we poured into the country only made Afghanistan's corruption worse. The United States failed because the billions of dollars we poured into the country only made Afghanistan's corruption worse. Quick Impact, Quick Collapse. The Dangers of Militarized Aid in Afghanistan. As seven non-governmental organizations, working in Afghanistan for up to fifty years and currently serving over 5 million Afghans across the country, we are deeply concerned about the harmful effects of this increasingly militarized aid strategy. As leaders from 70 nations gather in London to debate the future of Afghanistan, we urge them to reevaluate this approach to development and reconstruction. Aid as a Weapons System? Military-dominated institutions, such as Provincial Reconstruction Teams (PRTs), often lack the capacity to manage effective development initiatives, even where civilians
