This book is aimed at researchers in any discipline who wish to write a research paper in English. If your first language is not English, you should find this book particularly useful. I have never written a paper before. This book focuses on language, structure and readability issues. It also tells you the key elements to include in the various sections of a paper. It does not cover, for example, how to compile figures, tables, and bibliographies. In your Discussion you need to "here Discussion refers to the Discussion section of the paper. Tenses. The following tenses are referred to in this book. Issued in the series Discussion Papers. Discussion Papers No. 173 Statistics Norway, April 1996. John K. Dagsvik. Aggregation in Matching Markets. Abstract: This paper develops aggregate relations for a matching market of heterogeneous suppliers and demanders. The point of departure is the analysis of two-sided matching found in Roth and Sotomayor (1990). Under particular assumptions about the distribution of preferences, the present paper derives asymptotic aggregate relations for the number of realized matches of different types in the presence of flexible contracts (such as a price).
