If you are blessed by these free Most of the living things we're familiar with--the plants in our gardens, the animals we eat--are composed of billions or trillions of cells. Most multicellular organisms consist of many different types of cells, each highly specialized to play a particular role--from building bones or producing the pigment in flower petals to fighting disease or sensing environmental cues. But the great majority of living things on our planet exist as single cell. These cellular singletons are every bit as successful and diverse as multicellular organisms, and our very existence relies on them. As the Christian religion cannot long subsist without some spiritual exercises and meditationsâ€”for the Psalmist says: In my meditation a fire flames outâ€”I think none more appropriate than these, which undoubtedly have had their source in the study of the Scriptures and in long experience.
