

The 36-Hour Day: A Family Guide to Caring for People Who Have Alzheimer Disease, Related Dementias, and Memory Loss, Nancy L. Mace, Peter V. Rabins, 2011, 9781421403069, Johns Hopkins University Press, 2011, 384 pages

"An excellent book for families who are caring for persons with dementia A book that physicians can confidently recommend to the families of their patients." - -Journal of the American Medical Association. "Excellent guidance and clear information of a kind that the family needs The authors offer realistic advice that sometimes it is better to concede the patient's frailties than try to do something about them, and that a compassionate sense of humor often helps." - -New York Times. The 36-Hour Day really helps put the reality of the person with this awful disease in an understandable perspective. I won't say it makes it easier, because it is very difficult, but, it helps me to stay calm and understand why my mom "acts" the way she does. I must say, "care taking" is NOT for everyone. The 36-Hour Day by Nancy L. Mace and Peter V. Rabins, MD, is an excellent book for families who are caring for persons with dementia. The title, The 36-Hour Day, reflects the authors' experience that the responsibilities, worries, and tensions of caring for such a patient at home more than fill up a 24-hour day. The book begins with a lengthy case study of "Mary," who had dementia, which serves [Show full abstract] both as an introduction and as a guide to the rest of the book. The book is full of suggestions to help the care provider. Catastrophic reactions, problems with la The 36-Hour Day book. Read 351 reviews from the world's largest community for readers. Read by Dr. Peter Rabins, this unabridged audio version of the def... Read by Dr. Peter Rabins, this unabridged audio version of the definitive guide for people caring for someone who has dementia features chapters on the causes of dementia, managing the early stages, prevention, and finding appropriate living arrangements for the person who has dementia when home care is no longer an option. item 3 The 36-Hour Day: A Family Guide to Caring for People Who Have Alzheimer Disease, 3 -The 36-Hour Day: A Family Guide to Caring for People Who Have Alzheimer Disease, £8.55. Free postage. Peter V. Rabins, M.D., M.P.H., is the Richman Family Professor of Alzheimer Disease and Related Disorders in the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences of the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine. He has joint appointments at the Bloomberg School of Public Health in the departments of Mental Health, and Health Policy and Management. The 36-Hour Day: A Family Guide to Caring for People Who Have Alzheimer Disease, Related Dementias, and Memory Loss by Nancy L. Mace, Peter V. Rabins (Paperback, 2011). The 36-hour day: a family guide to caring for people who have alzheimer disease, related dementias, and memory loss in later life. Rabins, Peter V., Mace, Nancy L. Year Other readers will always be interested in your opinion of the books you've read. Whether you've loved the book or not, if you give your honest and detailed thoughts then people will find new books that are right for them. 1. Comprehensive anatomy of motor functions.